Web Conference on Demand

Today's business issues.

Bringing people together to talk, strategize and make decisions is part of business. But collaboration can be expensive, time-consuming and a hassle to coordinate. Businesses are looking for a better way.

Just like being there.

TELUS Web Conference on Demand provides your teams with the tools they need for real-time collaboration. See what you can do:

- See each other via the video presenter window
- Share applications
- Share your desktop with others
- Send a chat message to one person or several
- Do a Web tour
- Present a slide show
- Record presentations for future playback

Face-to-face meetings without the expense.

What if you could conduct collaborative, visual, interactive meetings, with anyone, anywhere in the world, right from your desk? TELUS Web Conference on Demand makes it possible. This solution integrates audio conferencing with a reliable, easy-to-use and feature-rich Web conferencing service – all at a reasonable cost. Make a sales presentation, demonstrate a product, collaborate on an issue, train employees – without having to travel or juggle schedules.

With TELUS Web Conference on Demand, your dispersed team can work together collaboratively and productively. Our solution takes a comprehensive suite of Web conferencing tools and fully integrates them with the unsurpassed quality of TELUS Audio Conferencing. Teams can share and annotate documents, make presentations with visual aids, and share ideas on a whiteboard. Computer desktops can be shared with others. Participants can view the presenter via the video presentation window at the same time they are watching the slide presentation. For participants who are unable to attend, you can record the session – integrated with audio – for future playback.

Security you can count on.

TELUS Web Conference on Demand is hosted in a secure TELUS Internet Data Centre. It utilizes secure socket layer technology (SSL) to ensure the safety and security of your Web conferences. All participants must log in with a unique code. During meetings, moderators can remove participants with just one click of a mouse.
