Telepresence

Go green while improving work-life balance

Less travel means a smaller carbon footprint for your organization. Less travel also means more time for employees to focus on both their work and personal life. This dual benefit can be a key competitive advantage for your organization. TELUS Telepresence solutions are the green alternative that enables employees to achieve work-life balance.

Today's business issues

Audio and video conferencing have become standard business practice – driven by the growing number of remote employees, the rising cost of business travel, the need to make quick decisions, and the desire to promote corporate social responsibility. While meetings via phone and video can be effective, they still fall short of the full sensory experience of face-to-face meetings.

The “in person” experience

Now there is a way to catch every nuance of conversation, even when meeting participants are spread across the world. TELUS Telepresence solutions convey the subtleties of human interaction via an “in person” experience. Telepresence is an immersive technology that goes beyond the realm of standard videoconferencing. It captures tone, facial expressions, and body language, leading to greater connection and understanding.

TELUS Telepresence solutions combine advanced visual, audio and collaboration technologies with state-of-the-art environmental design. They display high-quality, life-size images of each remote participant, creating the illusion of being in the same room.

Transform your business

With telepresence, your company can leverage modern technology to change the way you currently do business. Getting people together for a face-to-face meeting has never been so convenient, quick and effective.

TELUS Telepresence solutions enable participants to collaborate effectively – eliminating the need for travel, boosting productivity, and reducing your organization's carbon footprint. You will see the results in your bottom line. TELUS Telepresence solutions can have a real and measurable impact on business by helping you to:

- Accelerate decision making
